7 There is nothing in these papers to show that the Chief Court recommended or the Govt promised an honorarium to the author in case the book was issued as a Govt publication. From the History of the Services it is seen that with short intervals when he was acting as Munsiff Mr S.R. Achar was Judicial Probationer working in the Chief Court from 14.5.06 to 9.6.08. ~~His~~ It is Under article 488 (1) (a) "the whole time of a public officer must be held to be paid for by the State and he may be employed in any manner required by proper authority within his own branch of duty, without claim to additional remuneration". It is considered that during the time he was Judicial Prob^r in the Ch. Court he had not much of other work to do and that the preparation of this digest was within his branch of duty, there can be no claim to extra remuneration — especially as the Ch. Court do not say anything about it.

8 Assuming therefore that there is no remuneration to be paid to the author it is certainly cheaper for the Govt to issue the book themselves, than to allow digests issued by the author — with a guarantee against loss and a share in the profits.

10 When the Govt does not accept responsibility for the work it seems but fair to regard the work of compilation (a very laborious kind of work) as falling "outside the branch of duty" of Mr S. Achar.

11 A digest is a very valuable Compilation as without it the reports can not be of much use.

U. Adverting to the Proceedings of Government No: J 2956-8/Cts 203-09-9 dated the 6th April 1912, I am directed to state that it has been ascertained that the cost of printing 250 copies of the Digest at the Lawrence Asylum Press will be about Rs 1,500. As the sale to outsiders is a very uncertain item, Mr. Srinivasaraghava Char is unwilling to undertake the publication unless he is indemnified against any possible loss. He suggests that the Government should take 150 copies at Rs 10 a copy or 200 copies at Rs 8 a copy. If the Government do not see their way to fall in with this suggestion the Digest may be issued as a Government publication.

The number of copies of the Reports distributed monthly to courts and offices is 195.
